

Long Wave

Unlock humanity with End-of-Trip lockers that help process that big

Nurturing happy and healthy minds in the workplace takes more than just recognising the importance of mental health. Along with implementing flexible working options and setting up sustainable furniture and fittings, initiating a suitable end-of-trip facility is also a game changer in the industry.

That is why we've created an entire range of lockers that perfectly fits the evolving needs of flexible employees who choose to take advantage of sustainable transport methods. Our @EOT lockers are mindfully designed to help process the big mental shift that's taking place between the commute and the office.
